Message from the Board Chair and President & CEO

2013 was a year of great change for Family Service League in terms of programs for the individuals and families we serve, the rapidly changing world of technology and the transition to electronic health records. With the advent of the Affordable Care Act and the Medicaid Redesign Team, we have seen a shift in how we coordinate care for people receiving Medicaid who have chronic health conditions and mental illness – a focus designed to deliver care management in a comprehensive way in order to achieve better healthcare.

The use of electronic health records is now a requirement for organizations providing behavioral health services. Keeping pace with these changes has been daunting for staff and at the same time created new opportunities for FSL to improve upon and streamline our internal processes.

We continued to expand our footprint of integrated health care in 2013. Forging relationships with three additional medical practices in Suffolk County, we demonstrated the strength behind co-locating primary medical care with mental health services and saw some compelling results that verify why this is such an effective model of care.

Change is our new normal and when we transitioned our Journey House program from Hauppauge to the Iovino South Shore Family Center in Bay Shore, our clients were able to receive immediate benefits. Journey House, one of our Personalized Recovery Oriented Services (PROS) programs that supports individuals with mental illness, now had the ability to connect clients to a cadre of other services more efficiently in this new location. The provision of integrated services under one roof improved the quality of service delivery for these adults.

Creating greater efficiencies in our operations while staying committed to our mission has been paramount. Staff continues to do outstanding work to meet the needs of individuals, families and communities in crisis...for the young and the elderly...for those challenged by homelessness, unemployment or mental illness. Family Service League is there for those who might otherwise “fall through the cracks.” We continue to be the Safety Net for Long Island families.

We invite you to visit our new website www.fsl-li.org to learn more about Family Service League, to volunteer, or support one of our 50 programs. Thank you for helping us to strengthen the lives of children and their families throughout Long Island.

With warm regards,

Barbara Page

FSL Mourned the Passing of Phyllis Haber, Vice President of Program Development and Grants

Phyllis began her involvement with FSL as a volunteer in our CAIR program helping address the urgent needs of families. She was then elected to the Board of Directors and later served as Board President. She subsequently joined the agency as an employee and her career spanned 31 years. Phyllis’ employment with FSL began as an Administrative Associate in 1980 and as part of this position, she provided counseling to families. In 1984 she became an Assistant Director, and oversaw east end clinic services and shortly thereafter was promoted to Associate Executive Director and then Vice President of Program Development and Grants. Phyllis was a strategist, role model, advocate, a pioneer in human services, and clearly innovative. Phyllis has left all of us, both personally and professionally, richer in our lives. A lasting legacy of her work, work ethic, and passion to help children and families will forever remain with all of us at Family Service League.
Capital One Bank and The Heart of America Foundation Support Literacy Programs at Family Service League

The Family Service League Riverhead and Bay Shore Family Centers celebrated the grand opening of their new Student Center Library “READesign”. Through a grant from Capital One Bank, The Heart of America Foundation’s team worked with Capital One volunteers and FSL’s staff members to transform existing study rooms at each location into vibrant learning centers with age-appropriate reading material for students.

More than 90 Capital One volunteers worked at FSL for two days to complete the transformation—from decorating and assembling furniture to sorting and stocking books. Volunteers also led financial literacy activities. In addition to the more than 750 books provided for the two libraries, Capital One donated three books to each of the 415 students to take home.

Our thanks to Capital One Bank for their generous donation and support!

$500,000 Fay J. Lindner Grant Supports the Expansion of Integrated Care

The Diane Goldberg Institute for Integrated Health Care was created in 2013, through a generous grant of $500,000 from the Fay J. Lindner Foundation. FSL expanded the model of providing quality health care to individuals with mental illness by program growth and adding the number of sites where such seamless care is delivered. FSL currently co-locates a licensed social worker in four medical practices on Eastern Long Island including:

- Southampton-Pediatric Practice
- Mattituck-Family Practice
- Riverhead-Pediatric Practice
- Shirley-Pediatric Practice

Each physician practice has fully embraced the model of integrated care and praises the benefits of the collaboration for their patients. It has resulted in the delivery of safe, effective and timely care to identified patients in the primary care setting that have behavioral healthcare needs that were previously not adequately addressed. In addition to providing treatment services, the partnerships have been instrumental in supporting and assisting the medical staff in providing concrete services and supports.

In 2013, there were several highlights that are worth noting:

- The program has significantly increased its capacity and currently treats over three hundred individuals with acute and/or chronic conditions.
- A licensed practical nurse (LPN) was hired to assist in the efficient delivery of care.
- The program developed a partnership with S.U.N.Y. Farmingdale’s School of Nursing which has helped to further the collaborative care model. These professional students have worked to increase health promotion/risk reduction activities and assist individuals in meeting social, physical and behavioral goals.
- Through use of structured data collection methods and business analytic tools, various positive clinical outcomes have been demonstrated including reducing the use of hospital and emergency room services and controlling chronic medical conditions.

Governor Cuomo Joins Project TOY Donors
5,000 Children Received Holiday Gifts

Project TOY (Treasure our Youth) was particularly exciting this year as Governor Cuomo arrived with a truck-load of toys to assist Family Service League’s collection efforts. Joined by Assemblyman Phil Ramos, the Governor delivered toys and coats to assist Long Island families in need during the December Holiday Season.

1,887 families visited our family centers in Huntington Station, Bay Shore, East Yaphank and Riverhead and chose gifts for each of their children. More than 5,000 children received gifts. Stalco Construction donated more than 500 toys and 11 bicycles to the Riverhead Family Center. Riverhead Building Supply picked up 1,000 toys from Toys for Tots for FSL. REESPECT Life, a family foundation, was a new toy donor in 2013. Other generous donors included GEICO, Huntington Country Club, Huntington Crescent Club, CACTUS, Riverhead Rotary and Suffolk County National Bank (see page 12 for more Toy Donors).

Girl Scouts of Suffolk County, Service Unit 12 (South Huntington), along with their leaders, delivered toys for families in need.

Journey House Personal Recovery Oriented Services Program (PROS) Re-locates to Iovino South Shore Family Center

Journey House PROS is a licensed outpatient mental health program which offers customized services for adults recovering from mental health conditions. The program is designed to support and assist individuals in goal-oriented rehabilitation. In February 2013 Family Service League’s Journey House PROS program re-located from the town of Hauppauge to our Bay Shore Iovino Family Center.

The advantages of this re-location to the 50 consumers are many. Journey House PROS, while located in Hauppauge, was a stand-alone facility. The new location allows consumers access to over twenty human service programs in the same facility. These comprehensive and diverse services allow for a continuum of care and enable individuals to co-enroll in services such as our Family Recovery Center for drug and alcohol recovery, Care Coordination and Assertive Community Treatment services for Case Management and Crisis Services. In addition, our individuals can secure a Primary Care Physician and access emergency medical care through our on-site Community Healthcare Collaborative (CHCC) with Southside Hospital. They even have access to the local YMCA as part of collaboration for our Wellness and Fitness Initiative. The convenience of accessible services under one roof even extends to our consumers’ families that are often eligible for our elderly, youth-at-risk and children’s services.

As we move into our second year at our FSL Bay Shore location, we look forward to further creative collaborations and measurable outcomes associated with this continuum of care such as reduction in both medical and mental health hospitalizations, drug and alcohol relapses and homelessness. We also are optimistic we will see an increase in independent living, education, volunteerism and employment.
Our Children Are “Too Good for Drugs”
Evidence-Based Program Influences Behavior

The 10-week skill building program mitigates the risk factors for drug abuse and builds the basis for a safe, supportive and respectful learning environment. Students in the 3rd, 4th and 5th grades in four Suffolk County School Districts share their thoughts about drugs and alcohol and appear receptive to the prevention message. After each week’s lesson, they bring home fact sheets to share with their families. In addition to providing critical information about the dangers of drug and alcohol use, “Too Good for Drugs” helps students build a healthy foundation which includes goal setting, decision making, bonding with others, identifying and managing emotions and communicating effectively. These five elements influence children’s behavior and their ability to effectively resist alcohol and drugs. Family Service League provided the training in Center Moriches, Eastport Manor, South Country and William Floyd School Districts to more than 2,250 students.

Prevention Educator Lisa Kratzke teaches 5th graders useful refusal skills.

32 Successful “Matches” in 2013 HomeShare Program

Affordable housing is one of the major issues facing individuals and seniors with low to moderate incomes, or those living on fixed incomes, on Long Island. Many seniors would love to remain in their homes but need assistance with home maintenance, transportation and/or just want to feel safe. Home seekers are often working adults or college students who are priced out of the Long Island rental market. During 2013, HomeShare made 32 successful “matches.” These occurred in the Townships of Islip, Huntington, Babylon, Brookhaven and Southold. Approximately 85% of the households that we match remain in their matches after one year. We have many long-term matches that have remained in their original placements for more than 5 years.

Previously Homeless, These Men are Succeeding

Charlie, 52 years old, moved into Family Service League’s Supported Housing Program after many years of living on the streets in East Hampton. His alcoholism made it impossible for Charlie to maintain permanent housing. Living in FSL’s group home for the past 3 years, Charlie is now attending outpatient treatment on a regular basis and has begun to attend Computer Classes at the Manor Field Family Center. With appropriate supports, previously homeless individuals can be successful!
